

In the soft dreams of old men,
I once was breast still worn
Joy after their dears
They are their last memory.
They bring me many fond remembrance
The past of satisfaction
Perfect to their memory gone.
Wants never their friends as much
Gladness of their lost.

EDITOR

Women live in liquids
Blood, milk, tears.
They know the tides by heart,
and recite the seasons.
Their babies float in water.
They are their babies' ocean.
Women drip red drops,
Their bodies' sap.
They have moist lips.
When flowers listen to women's bodies,
They hear the sea.
